MONTHLY EARNINGS OF PRINCIPAL RAILROADS,

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, May 9, 1873.

Trade in general merchandise has shown a fair degree of activity during the past week. 'The most conspicuous exception to this statement relates to grain, the prolonged delay in reopenlug the Erie Canal keeping back the needed and customary supplies. In foreign merchandise there has been a fair distributing trade, but there is a want of speculative confidence and activity among business men, and it is difficult to stimulate pur chases beyond immediate wants.

Freights have advanced for grain to Liverpool, with a fair business to other ports; a number of petroleum charters and a few with grain to Cork for orders. Yesterday Liverpool steamers engaged ten loads of grain for this month at 6@61d. To-day room was scarce for grain to Liverpool, and a further advance demanded. To Cork for orders 7s. 3d. was quoted. There were four petroleum charters, including Cork, U. K., and Continent, at 6s. 6d.

Provisions have been quiet, with a pretty general [decline. Pork sold yesterday at $18 for new mess on the spot, for June and July; extra prime sold to a small extent at $14 75. Lard has ruled lower, and has sold at 91@98c for prime Western for this month's delivery, 95c for June, and 95c for July. Bacon has beeu in moderate demand at lower figures, short clear selling at 97@10c, and long clear Western at 94c for early delivery. Cut meats have been generally quiet; dry salted shoulders, however, have been in moderate demand, with sales at 7c; some business has been reported in heavy pickled hams at 111c. Beef has been in light demand, and has rather favored buyers. Beef hams have been in better demand, with business in Western at $31 50. Butter has continued to decline, under increasing receipts of new. Cheese has been in pretty good demand for new for export and home use, with good to fine quality quoted 15@16c; the stock of old is quite moderate, and exporters have turned their attention to new. To-day pork was again lower, new mess closing at $1750 for May and June delivery. Bacon was quiet and weak. Lard was about steady on the spot; but 1c for future, prime Western selling at 91c for May, 191c for June, and 91c for July, closing with a good demand. A notable transaction was 400,000 lbs dry salted shoulders in bulk at Chicago, sold for June delivery there at 6%c, while the same sold here in boxes at 7c.

Tobacco has been less active for Kentucky, but the market closes with a fair demand and prices firm. The sales for the woek have been 500 hhds, of which 400 hhds were for export. New crop is quoted at 7@8c for lugs, and 84@14c for leaf. Seed leaf shows a little more doing, but the market on the whole remains quiet, with prices somewhat unsettled. Sales have been; Crop of 1870, 150 cases sundries, 9@10c; crop of 1871, 300 cases sundries, 15@60c; crop of 1872, 100 cases Pennsylvania, private terms, 54 cs. Ohio at 6c, 100 cases Wisconsin at 6@61c. Spanish tobacco, at lower prices, has been fairly active; sales, 500 bales Havana, at 75@921c.

Naval stores have been depressed by large supplies coming upon the market, strained rosin closing at $3 15 and spirits turpentine at 50@50½c, after having been a little lower than these prices. Petroleum has been settling down; all the speculative influences which caused the late advance have been wanting, and closing prices are 20c. for refined in bbls, 94c for crude in bulk, and 11 @111c for naphtha in shipping order. Fish oils have been fairly active. Sales embrace 300 blds crude sperm, $1 50: 300 bbls Southern whale, 63c, and of menhaden 500 bbls at 55c Lard oil has also been more active, at 77c for Spring and 80c for Tallow has been firmer, selling at 91c. Winter pressed. for prime city, closing strong. Whiskey has been variable. closing at 93@931c., the supply having fallen off, and the production, from various causes, materially curtailed. Hides have been more steady at 25@251c., gold, for dry Buenos Ayres. Leather in demand in excess of receipts, and 6,000 sides have been shipped to Europe. Wool has been more active for foreign, with sales of Cape at 33@35c., currency, duty paid, and 15c., gold, in bond, for export to Canada; domestic wools quiet. Fish quiet, and dry cod has declined under large arrivals. Fruits have been quiet. Metals have generally ruled quiet; Lake copper quoted 321c., cash, and English has sold 301@301c.; spelter, 7½c., gold, for Silesian; lead, 6½c., gold, for ordinary foreign. Pig iron dull, No. 1 American sold at $50, and Eglinton (Scotch) at $48@49, Straits tin has sold at 32c., gold, and tin plates quoted $11 75@12, gold, for charcoal.

Exports of Leading Articles from New York. The following table, compiled from Custom House returns, shows the exports of leading articles from the port of New York since January 1, 1873, to all the principal foreign countries, and also the totals for the last week, and since January 1. The last two lines show total values, including the value of all other articles besides

The market for spot cotton the past week has been dull and depressed until to-day, when, with stronger accounts from Liverpool, there was more doing and a firmer feeling. Quotations were reduced  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. on Monday, and have been since without recovery. Buyers have appeared to hold off, very little being taken either for home use or for export. It may be noted, however, that while spot quotations were only  $\frac{1}{2}$ c. below those of two weeks ago, futures had declined before the recovery of to-day  $\frac{1}{2}(\frac{6}{2}$ c. for the later months. In fact the market for futures was quite broken down but there was sufficient interest to prevent a panic. The The market for spot cotton the past week has been dull and down, but there was sufficient interest to prevent a panic. The influencea tending to depress prices were dull accounts from Liverpool, slow sale of cotton goods, the more favorable weather for the growing crop, and better accounts of its progress, together with large receipts at our ports and very large shipments from India. These facts all tended to depress the market. The lowest point for futures was reached at the close of Wednesday's busipoint for futures was reached at the close of Wednesday's business. Yesterday there was some recovery, but with much less activity. To day, with Liverpoel a shade firmer, there was a the opening a smart advance, June selling at 18\frac{3}{4}; later there was a reaction, but towards the close the market again improved, closing at an advance of 3-16\mathcal{C}_4\mathcal{c}. The prices for futures last reported were (basis low middling) 18\frac{4}{5}c. for May, 18 11-16c. for June, 18 13-16c. for July, 18\frac{4}{5}c. for August, 17\frac{1}{3}c. for October, and 17 1-16c. for November. The total sales of this description for the week are 125,100 bales, including — tree on board. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 4,918 bales, including 2,526 for support, 2,003 for consumption, 389 for speculation, and — in transit. Of the above 282 bales were to arrive. WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The rain which we referred to last week appears to have continued in most of the Cotton States during a large part of the present week. It was needed, and has been therefore beneficial, as the ground was very dry, and, except in the Western States, planting is nearly completed. As to the Western States, plantation work is more backward, and accounts less encouraging. At New Orleans they have had an unusually severe storm, it being rainy more than half the the week, with thunder-storms. Our telegram from Mobile reports two days' rain and an unusually severe storm, but does not state that any damage resulted; to day it is cloudy. It has rained on three days at Selma, the weather being warm, sultry and wet. At Montgomery there were two days' rain the earlier part of the week, but since then it has been pleasant. Our Macon dispatch says that it has rained there more than half the week. At Columbus it has only rained on one day, and our correspondents add that much of the seed planted has failed to come up. It has rained on four days at Charleston, but the latter part of the week has been clear and pleasant. At Memphis and Nashville it has rained on two days. Our correspondent at Memphis states that they have obtained a poor stand, and are replanting largely; and our Nashville telegram says that the weather is so unfavorable in that vicinity that much of the seed planted has failed to come up. The thermometer at Memphis has averaged 61, Savannah 70, Mobile 70, Macon 68, Columbus 70, and Montgomery 72.

OUR FIGURES OF VISIBLE SUPPLY.—Wo are now making arrangements by which we shall be able very soon to furnish our readers each week with the most complete figures of visible sapply of cotton ever published. The stock at every continental port will be stated separately and the proportion of the total which is American; also the amount afloat from every producing country will be given (each description by itself)—East Indian, American, and all others. Our table will thus show at a glance not only the actual total visible supply in bales, but the total of each description of cotton, and finally the total in pounds. The corresponding figures for the two previous years we also expect to furnish.

BOMBAY SHIPMENTS.—According to our cable dispatch received to-day, there have been 54,000 bales shipped from Bombay to Great Britain the past week and 6,000 bales to the continent, while the receipts at Bombay, during the same time have been 61,000 bales. The movement since the first of January is as follows. These are the figures of W. Nicol & Co., of Bombay, and are brought down to Tbursday, May 8:

From the foregoing it would appear that compared with last year there is an increase this year in the week's sbipments from Bombay to all of Europe of 39,000 bales, and that the total movement eince Jan. 1 shows a decrease in shipments of 65,000 bales compared with the corresponding period of 1872.

GUNNY BAGS, CLOTH, &c.—Cloths have been very quiet the past week; the only sale reported is 350 rolls at 13c. cash. Holders are firm, and await consumptive demand. Butts are in moderate demand: the only sales of the week are at 2c. cash to 2 1-16@25c. time—say about 1,000 bales in all. Jute—1,000 bales sold on private terms.

VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON MADE UP BY CABLE AND TELE-GRAPH.—By cable we have to-night the stocks at the different European ports, the India cotton aftoat for all of Europe, and the American aftoat for each port as given below. From figures thus received, we have prepared the following table, showing the quantity of cotton in sight at this date (May 9) of each of the two pact agreens.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY P. M., May 2, 1873.

The flour market has shown rather more steadiness, especially in the lower grades. They have been scarce and in demand, not only for the British Provinces, but for the South. Low extras have also been in demand for Great Britain, and the market was cleared of them at $6 70@$6 90. At the close, receipts having been small, very few are to be had under $7. Good medium grades from Winter wheats have also been scarce and have brought a little more money, but the better grades from Spring wheat have been plenty and dull. Choice family flours are also scarce, but not in much demand. To-day, with a severe storm prevailing, there was not much doing, but prices were very firmly maintained.

Wheat has been variable. The stock is much reduced, and the receipts by rail have been quite moderato, while the demand has somewhat improved. Prices have consequently recovered the decline which took place early in the week. Yesterday there was a pretty large business done for export at $1 55@1 58 for No. 3 Spring; $1 64 for No 2 Chicago, afloat; $1 68 for No. 2 Milwau kee in store, and $1 721 for No. 1 Spring in store. Winter wheats have been very scarce, and have brought extreme prices for small lots. For arrival, No. 2 Milwaukee has sold at $1 67 to arrive by rail, $1 65 for the last half of May, and $1 60 for the first half of June. Yesterday it was offered for all June at $1 60. without bids reported. The condition of the Eric Canal is reported to be such that no supplies can be expected through that channel till June. To day there was a stronger feeling, and prime No. 2 Spring brought $1 68, to arrive by rail, but the demand was not active.

Indian corn has declined. An advance of a halfpenny in ocean freights, and a pressure to sell, caused prices to give way. The late busivess in old mixed has been at at 661@67c in store, and in new at 671@68c affoat; yellow quiet, but rather more doing in white at 73c for Western and 78c for Southern. To-day, neither offerings nor demand was large; prime new mixed sold at 68c afloat; do. yellow 69c, and 67c was bid for old mixed in store, with 67½c asked.

Rye has advanced, and Western sold at 97c, and State at $1; now held higher. Barley has been closing out at $5@88c for prime Western, and $1 18 for prime Canada West. Oats have fluctuated widely, declining on Tuesday to 49c for new mixed, and 51c for do. white, followed by an advance of 2c, part of which was subsequently lost. Large supplies are coming for ward. To day, new Western mixed were saleable at 50@504c.

GROCERIES.

FRIDAY EVENING, May 9, 1873.

The general tone of the groceries market during the past week has been steady, and business has been fair in a jobbing way. The transactions from first hands have not been on a very liberal scale in most lines, but enough business has been done to sustain prices with a fair degree of steadiness. Coffee has remained steady at previous quotations, closing quiet with stocks still well under control. Sugar has been in moderate demand and prices advanced early in the week fully 1c. on the raw grades. Molasses has sold well in the grocery grades and there is a better feeling in refining qualities. The line trade in teas has been moderately active and the market closes steady at about previous rates.

TEA.

The principal feature of the market during the current week has been the large sales of teas at anction. These offerings comprised sound goods, and were made without reserve. The attendance of buyers was extremely good, as the conditions upon which the goods were offered insured their sale at the prices established by the buyers. The bidding in most instances was sufficiently spirited to indicate a lack of goods in the hands of distributors, and the prices realized upon Greens and Japaus were about on a level with the ruling quotations on the street previous to the sale. Quotations are, therefore, unchanged, although still somewhat nominal. Oolongs are dull, and continue weak, the market being further depressed by considerable additions to The arrivals for the week have included some 1,600,000 lhs of Blacks and about 600,000 lbs of Japans. One small failure was announced early in the week, but this has produced no effect upon the market, and now that stocke are becoming concentrated in strong hands, the undertone of the market is rather more favorable, though with the heavy stocks now in the market, it must be a long time before prices can become very buoyant. There has been a fair line husiness, but the auction sales have been so liberal that buyers have supplied their wants without recourse to purchases through private channels. Sales are reported of 2,100 half chests Greens, 1,750 do. Japans and 800 Oolongs.

Sales are reported of 2,100 half chests Greens, 1,750 do. Japans and 800 Oolongs. Imports at this port the past week have included 160,472 lbs Black and 25,807 do. Green per "Sir William Wallace" from Hong Kong; 696,378 lbs Black, per "Annie Gray," from Foochow; 917,429 do. do., per "Her Majesty," from Hong Kong, and 615,746 lbs. Japan, per "Cleta," from Yokohama. The indirect importations have included 350 pkgs by steamer.

Imports at San Francisco from Jan. 1 to April 16, were 164,115 lhs. of China, 1,015,630 lbs. of Japan and 200 lbs. of Java tea.

COFFEE.

There is a continued fair inquiry for jobbing lots of all grades, and the market generally is fairly steady. The news from Rto has been of a fairly favorable character, although the heavy sales upon American account make the outlook for our market less bnoyant. Prices have advanced to 9$500 in Rio, but this is partly offset by a decline in exchange. There can be no weakening in prices here so long as the stock is as well under control as it is at present, and the close of the week finds the market strong at an advance on the better grades. The trade in India coffees is fair, but the asles of pale goods are restricted by the illiberal offerings. Buyers do not take the darker coffees willingly, but are forced to by the scarcity of the pale goods. There has been a small arrival of Maracaibo, but the samples are green and the cargo is not very destrable. The bulk of it has been sold, however, at 19c. jobbing sales of other India grades foot up a fair aggregate, and the market closes strong, with no important changes in the quotable rates. The sales include 12,576 mats Java, ex "Netherland and Orange;" 2,000 do., ex "Queen of the Sess;" 2,100 bags Maracaibo, ex "Storm Petrel," at 19c.; 1,000 bags Java, 465 Costa Rica, 200 Laguayra, 250 Porto Rico in lots to consumption, 700 St. Domingo shipped to Hamhurg from first hauds; 4,600 bags Santos, ex "Bernard;" 200 bags Santos and 1,200 bags Rio, ex "Ontario;" 500 do. ex "Flamsteed;" 4,547 do. ex "Morro Castle;" 1,000 do. ex "Sonth America;" all here. At the outports we hear of sales of 460 Rio at Galveston; 584 do. ex "Prestissimo," at Baltimore, to arrive, at 181/c; 3,300 do. ex "Christine," at Baltimore, at 18%c, and 3,150 do., the balance ex "Lapwing," and 5.000 do. ex 'J. Of other sorts the stock at New York. May 8, and the imports at the sports since January 1, 1873, were as follows:

Just subsequent to our last review the market advanced %c. on the strength of a more active business, and at the improvement a fair trade has continued throughout the week. The transactious have not been on a very liberal scale, though there is, perhaps, more than the usual business under weigh. Later in the week the demand has become somewhat slack, in consequence of buyers having supplied themselves pretty well with stock for immediate use. The arrivals during the week have run rather large, and this has a momentary tendency to check operatious, although the supply is still well under control. The basis of quotations at present is 7%@8%c., for fair to good refining Cuba.

while Centrifugals are held at 83/0093/c. A comparison of prices with those of last year is interesting. At that time fair to good was quoted at 8%@8%c., and Centrifugals were held at 9%@10%c., while gold was $1 14. Refleing sngars have been steady this week, but close somewhat heavier with a quiet business. The closing rates will he found in our list. The sales of rawe since onr last report lacinde 7,579 hhds. Cuba at 7@8%c; 1,219 hhds. and 3,514 boxes Centrifugal, at 8% (99% c; 836 hoxes Havana, 7% (28c; 1,115 hhds. Porto Hico, 8@8% c; 235 hhds. Trinidad, 7% c; 525 Melado, 5% c; 370 hhds. MOLASSES.

The inquiry for refining grades of Cubn molasses is said to be a little more active toward the close of the week, but there is still a very limited sale for these descriptions as the wants of refiners are far from becoming pressing. Some stock has changed hands, and the feeling at the close, with sugar somewhat higher, is more hopeful. The stock of Cubs, all grades, amounts to 3,628 hhds., and prices remain steady at our last quotations, the stock being held by strong parties. The supply of grocery qualities is greatly diminished. and we now have but 115 hhds. Porto Itico, and 149 hhds. English Islands in first hands. The new crops come in slowly from all sources, and with a fair outlet prices are fully maintained. The supply of domestic has run down to 2,500 bbls., and the demand continues fair, while holders are very firm at 70@ 80c. for the higher grades, the full range being 55@80c. Syrups continue in limited request and are strong at previous quotations. We note sales during the week of 352 hhds. and 47 tes. beiling molasses at 31c; 75 hhds. Porto Rice, la lots, within the range, and 200 bbls. New Orleans, at 73@80c.

Imports of Sugar & Molasses at leading ports since Jan. 1.

The imports of sugar (including Melado), and of Molasses at the leading ports from January 1, 1873, to date, have been as follows:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

Faiday, P. M., May 9, 1873.

Trade has continued moderate during the past week, but has net shown any material improvement from our last report, and the result is something of a disappointment to holders. Retailers are buying sparingly, the season being too late to warrant very heavy purchases on their part now. The distribution of cotton goods has received a temporary check in the break in prices upon some of the leading lines which has led buyers to look for a still more unsettled condition of affairs, and gave them less confidence in the stability of prices. As soon as they become convinced that there is to be no further decline there will, in all probability, be a reaction in trade, and sales will be made upon a more liberal scale. Still an active business cannot be expected from this time forward, and the season will have to be entered as a disappointment. Our dealers report more freedom in the collections from the interior, which is regarded as a very favorable feature, and has been of considerable benefit to the trade. Now that money has relaxed it is hoped that the trade have bridged over their severest strain, and that there will be no serious failures. One small jobbing house is reported as suspending during the past week, but this has had no effect upon the general tone of the markets.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—There has been a general break in the market for staple cottons during the week, and at the close the feeling is very much unsettled, although prices are becoming better established on the reduced basis. Brown sheetings and shirtings have been reduced 1@1c per yard, and on wide goods 2c per yard. At the decline sales have been fair, and some of the lighter weights of goods have sold with more freedom. best brands of fine bleached shirtings have been pretty steadily held, as the stock is very light, but even these are somewhat irregular with jobbers. The medium and lower qualities are in improved request since the reduction, and are held steadier. Cotton drills have been quiet, and the accumulation of stock has led to a slight decline in values. The call for export is very light. Sales of colored cottons are on a limited scale, but the stock remains light, and prices are maintained with a good degree of firmness. A reduction has taken place upon corset jeans and satcens, which remain quiet. Prints have been in fair jobbing request, but are not meeting very active sale at the close of the week, and the sales from first hands are light in the aggre. gate. Prices have declined 1/2c. on nearly all standard makes, and at the reduction goods are moving off of jobbers stands with a little more freedom. Ginghams are quoted lower by some of the jobbing houses. Other cotton goods are quiet and unchanged.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The market for all classes of woolens has been extremely dull during the past week, and fails to show any more encouraging signs than have been reported for some weeks back. There seems to be no bottom to the market for the heavier descriptions of woolens, and the sales making are at a very irregular range of values. The raw material continues soft, and the market is quiet, though there has been a little more call toward the close of the week for foreign grades. The demand for Spring woolens is nearly over, and there is but little call as yet for Fall weights, clothiers showing less than the usual disposition to purchase in view of the unsatisfactory results of their trade during the two past seasons. Worsted dress fabrics are selling well and stocks are light, while prices are fully maintained.

FOREIGN GOODS .- With the imports still running down, the position of the market is becoming rather more favorable for importers, although there is still a lack of activity in the trade. and the sales effected indicate a soft tone. Importers are ready to close out their stocks at whatever prices they can realize, on lines adapted exclusively to the Spring trade, and are free sellers of staples, although these goods pay a very small margin upon the cost of importation. The auction houses are well filled with all classes of goods, but the sales are not at very satisfactory prices. Prices are irregular and nominal on all lines, and with the unfavorable weather prevailing at the close, sales are light and unsatisfactory.

We annex a few particulars of leading articles of domestic manufacture our prices quoted being those of leading jobbers:

THE LANGUOR OF THE MONEY MARKET ..

In consequence of the recent loss of bullion by the Bank of England arise has been expected in its rate of discount. But no advance has been made, and the minimum remains unchanged, although the coin reserve is now reduced to about 21 millions sterling. This sum is manifestly inadequate for the prospective wants of that institution, and the inexpediency of any attempt to replenish its reserve by the usual method of raising the rate is much discussed by those of our financiers who are interested in these movements.

Our money market is, however, gradually gaining strength, so that the projected doings of the Bank of England are not canvassed with so much anxiety as they caused a few weeks ago. Still there might be some inconvenience if the rate should advance so as to disturb any considerable amounts of the foreign capital new lending here. Of this, however, there is not at present much apparent danger.

market is the great quietude which prevails in all departments. The deposits of the banks are being replenished by the flow of currency from the interior, and the bank averages to day are expected to show a further improvement in the legal tender reserves. National bank currency is, however, accumulating at this centre, as the country remittances are to a large extent made in these notes. If the present languor of the money market arose from any well defined distrust or from a general depression of public confidence, it would be a much more formidable symptom than it really appears to be. But the probability is that it arises from that conservative caution on the part both of borrowers and lenders which has often proved itself, during the inflation of our paper money era, one of our chief safeguards against panic. Such a ruinous prostration of credit as we suffered in 1857, and during several previous monetary convulsions still more disastrous, never occurs except the way is prepared beforehand by a reckless expansion of credit and an undermining of the foundations of financial stability. The symptoms of such abuses and dangers have for a quarter of a century been familiar. They have been dreaded and watched by men whose observation was sharpened by the knowledge that their all depends on the interpreting aright of the signs of the threatening storm, and taking precaution in time. That we have been so free from panics during the past ten or a dozen years is to no small extent due to this intelligent timely caution, equally removed from timidity and recklessness, on the part of our banking and commercial community. It is partly because of a fatal short-coming in these points, and partly from its previously undeveloped banking machinery that Germany has been unable to absorb the 1,000 millions of indemnity exacted from France without suffering such severe monetary spasms as have so greatly surprised superficial observers.

Were the present languor in our money market of that stringent character which we have indicated as showing a general loss of confidence and an apprehended danger of some formidable evils, it would be a much more serious symptom than we now believe it. It appears really to be a conservative movement. This cautious wholesome policy on the part of our banks and of the commercial community is to be commended both for other reasons and especially because a panic which is thus provided against never comes, and no monetary revulsion ever yet occurred without being preceded by an abuse of banking facilities, by a reckless expansion of credits, and by a general neglect of salutary precautions.

There is another aspect in which this monetary languor is worthy of attention. We are at the close of a protracted period of unexampled stringency. During many months a Almost the only new feature of importance in the loan prodigious pressure has been operating on every mercantile interest, and although few failures have taken place, yet heavy losses must have been incurred, and the business of the year must have fallen for the most part very much below anticipation. The relaxing of this monetary pressure a fortnight ago caused a simultaneous rush into the market to borrow at the declining rates, so that not a few persons provided themselves with money in advance of their immediate wants. Hence this large class of borrowers are not in the market now because they have previously got all the money they need for the moment, and hope that before long they shall be able to get further accommodation on easier terms. Should this expectation be verified, and the rates for money settle down to a medium point, these borrowers will hasten to avail themselves of it, for few of them believe that money will rule as low this summer as usual.

THE INTERNATIONAL PEACE CONGRESS.

Political philosophers have pointed out several methods by which modern civilization puts a check on war. One is by making war so costly a luxury that nations cannot afford it. The time must come when Europe will begin to ask herself whether she will continue to keep three millions of her able-bodied men under arms, and will spend upon their equipment 440 millions of dollars a year, besides the immense loss of material wealth caused by their withdrawal from productive labor. The immense penalties inflicted on France by her last war with Germany, and the heavy bonds to keep the peace, under which almost every nation in Europe is placed by the magnitude of their national debts-all tend to create a lively public Everything which tends to make armies against war. coatly helps to stop wars and make them less frequent, and the improvements which mechanical science has made in the weapons and equipment of military troops may thus be regarded as part of the great machinery of civilization which is working together to bring war to an end as a frequent or recognized method of settling national disputes.

A more direct and familiar method of stopping the ravages of war has been attempted by a number well-known philanthropic associations, which during past years have commanded so much public attention both here and abroad by their advocacy of the principles to which we have adverted.

During the coming Autumn a Peace Congress is to be convened, in which influential publicists from all the principal nations of Europe are expected to take a part. On Thursday a meeting was held in this city for the purpose of taking the initiatory steps for making the con vention practically useful. The Corresponding Secretary, the Rev. James B. Miles, gave some suggestive statements relative to his recent visit to Europe, and both he and the other speakers adduced evidence to show that the success of the Geneva Arbitration has produced a profound impression on the public opioion of Europe in favor of a peaceful settlement of all international disputes. The formidable difficulties which prevent union among the nations for this beneficent purpose, are notoriously augmented by the absence of any brief, clear, definite code of international law. This difficulty it is proposed to make an effort to remove this year, and with a view to start this reform the following resolutions were prepared by Prof. John Norton Pomeroy, and were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the establishment of an international code, containing among its provisions the recognition of arbitration as the means of settling international disputes, is an object of the highest interest and importance.

Resolved, That, with a view to the formation of such a code, it is expedient that a meeting should be called for consultation upon the best method of preparing it and the most promising means of procuring its adoption.

Resolved, That such a meeting be held on the 23d day of September next, to which publicists from different nations of invited and that a committee be appointed to issue the invitations and make arrangements for the meeting, and that this committee have power to add to their number.

Resolved, That David Dudley Field, Theodore D. Wilsey, LL.D., Emory Washburne, William Beach Lawrence and James B. Miles

be such committee.

Of course, all that the committee can attempt under these resolutions is to prepare a draft of a code for revision by the Congress and by its proper committees. Such a draft, care fully prepared, will obviate much of the confusion and vague indefiniteness which has heretofore given such a visionary character to the proceedings of similar conventions in past years. We believe the draft of the proposed International code is already in a forward state of preparation, and when perfected by the committee, it will probably be published for criticism and examination in this country and abroad prior to the meeting in September.

Two different opinions are current as to the proper constituents of such an international code as this. One party wish to make the instrument as brief as possible, and would limit it to a few comprehensive broad principles, which might be adopted and incorporated in a general treaty or convention between the great contracting Powers. Another class of jurists would have the code extended into a volume, and drawn out in minute detail so as to comprise, as in a digest, the extensive multiplicity of points laid down in the famous works of Puffendorf, Vattel, or Grotius, and modified by the progress of experience as exhibited by more modern jurists. The committee seem to incline to think the latter plan the best, though probably the former promises more practical results.

But what practical good, we are asked, can be expected from the philanthropic labors of such a convention? Can it prevent war? Can it protect a weak nation from being overrun by the armies of a stronger nation? Can it give any guarantees of peace which will not melt like wax in the first heat of civil broils or international disputes? But these objections are not quite fair. If the aims of the Peace Congress were limited to the direct prevention of war, and to the preparing of a digest of rules and canons of international law potent enough to stop war, these questions might have more weight. For it is doubtful if a single battle has ever been prevented either by the mere efforts of any Peace Convention, or of the great writers we have named, or of the multitude of more practical minds that have since their day made luminous the thorny path of in ternational law. The direct prevention of war is a work to be done by rulers and statesmen in courts and cabinets, and not by philosophers in their closets, or by philanthropists in their assemblies. It is therefore absurd to blame Peace Conventions and their supporters because their utmost exertions have not prevented war in the past, and because they cannot except indirectly prevent war however, not, undervalue in the tuture Let us their usefulness or mistake what it is they have to do. Their object is to act upon public opinion, to shew to nations and their rulers how the disputes they seek to end by the dread machinery of war can be better achieved by the peaceful power of arbitration. In this task of spreading information, enlightening the minds of the people, and propagating the beneficent principles of peace, they are working only a part of the great mechanism by which modern civilization is setting bounds to the desolation of war. Still their function is important, and while these gentlemen give us practical codes of international law, authentic information as to the cost of war, the taxes it extorts, or the commercial bonds which are uniting the nations so closely together as to render arbitration more feasible, and war more devastating, they will secure more public approval and respect than have been accorded to the unpractical visionary projects of previous workers in this important field of philanthropic toil. For obvious reasons the state of public opinion in Europe during the present Autumn is likely to be opportune for the purposes they have in view.

THE VIENNA PANIC AND ITS EFFECT HERE.

The financial panic at Vienna rages with unabated force, and its violence seems to have taken almost everybody here by surprise. Among our best authorities there is much divergence of opinion, both as to its specific causes, its probable extent and duration, and its indications as regards our own money market. In the absence of fuller details than have come over the cable, we must be content at present with a partial solution.

One point which is of importance in regard to Austria is that her financial system rests on an unstable foundation. Austria has a paper-money standard based on the issue of about 421 millions of florins of Treasury notes, equivalent to $202,000,000. Their paper money system is complicated like ours with a bank note issue almost as large as that of the Government. The Austrian National Bank on the 23d April had a circulation out. standing to the amount of $155,740,000, its coin reserve being $71,285,000, and its loans $93,940,000. The panic, whatever may have been its (rigin, does not seem to have embarrassed the bank, which united with the Government in advances for the relief of the financial pressure to the extent of 20 million florins, or $10,000,000.

Secondly, there are several circumstances which must have produced during the last two years a very considerable strain upon the inelastic financial machinery of the Austrian Empire. One of these is the remarkable development and material growth of the country since the close of its last war. Of this rapid progress we cannot have a netter indication than is offered by the reports of the foreign commerce of Austria, which showed an increase in 1871 of 25 per cent over the returns for 1870. The following table will show how generally this increase was distributed over the whole field, both of imports and exports:

We have not the returns for the year 1872, but all the tude. Of course these figures indicate a commensurate extension of the home trade, which must have absorbed a vast aggregate of capital. The navigation returns do not show quite so well, as the German ships are probably doing a large part of the increased business of Austria. The figures from 1866 to 1870 compare #s follows:

Without going into further detail, we may infer that two predisposing causes of the financial panic were a weak and unsteady financial system, and a very active growth of industrial enterprise for several successive years in Austria itself. To this we must add the absorption of capital by Hungary, whose material development since annexation to Austria has been still more extraordinary. Here, then, we have a concurrence of the most frequent causes of monetary panies, a defective currency, and a too rapid absorption of floating capital by industrial ventures and by speculative, doubtful or unsound projects.

The financial position of Austria was complicated, moreover, and its funds exhausted by the wild speculation which has run riot there, and has ruined thousands of deluded victims. Several months ago we called attention to the large dividends and advancing prices which were reported for some of the railroad and banking corporations on the Vienna Bourse, and suggested that an explosion must inevitably follow so much inflation. The catastrophe has now come. To the number previously recorded, one hundred new failures were reported yesterday, chiefly, as is said, among the stock brokers of Vienna, no important banks having yet succumbed.

How likely the effects of this panic may be to reach us is a question not very difficult to solve. A year or two ago it might have been of more moment to us. At that time Austrian capitalists held a heavy amount of our five-twenties and other securities. During the recent speculative excitement, however, both Austria and Germany have sold out a large portion of these bonds, and have invested the proceeds in such fancy stocks as we have described, which are reported during the last three years to have been issued to no less an amount than 1,200 millions of dollars. If this panic had broken out at a time when the capitalists of Vienna were loaded up with our securities, we might have suffered some embarrassment. At that time, moreover, the British market was not opening as promisingly as now for the absoption of American bonds. For all that appears, the London market will take without difficulty such of our securities as have to be thrown over and sold in Germany and Austria. If this view should be further confirmed, as it seems in part to be by the great firmness of our bonds in London, then the panic in the Continental money markets is not in any serious way likely to work to our disad vantage, as we have lately ceased to depend on German markets for an outlet to our securities.

CURRENT TOPICS.

THE KHIVAN WAR AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE.—A cablegram from London of the 13th, reports that Khiva has fallen. On the maps the Khanate of Khiva is a part of Independent Tartary. Its people are for the most part nomadic tribes, the Usbeks being the dominant race. From the third to the tenth century Khiva belonged evid ene points to an increase over 1871 of like magni- to Persia; it then became independent, and so remained until the thirteenth contury, when it was conquered by the great Genghis Khan. Subsequently it was subdued by Timour the Tartar, and until the sixteenth century was a part of the kingdom of Samarcand; it then was conquered and turned into a Khanate by the Turkish tribe of Usbeks. The first expedition sent against it by Russia was under Peter the Great, in 1717. It failed to ac. complish its purpose, but succeeded in giving to Russia a foothold in Asia, since which time the Khanates have been a continued annoyance to Russia by capturing and enslaving a number of her subjects who enter the Khanates as travelers or merchants. In 1867 the general government of Turkestan was established, and the efforts of the Russian Government to cultivate friendly relations, and to fix an equality of duties for Russian and native traders, having failed an invasion of the Khanates, took place, and in 1867-68 both the Khan and Emir of Bokhara and Khokand were forced into compliance with the terms of the Emperor of Russia. The Khan of Khiva, however, persistently refused to submit to this dictation, while the Russian Government on the other hand, declared it necessary for the peace of the Steppes of Orenburg, with which Khiva had close commercial relations, that that Khanate should be compelled to comply with the terms of the programme proposed. To enforce this was the avowed object of the war which has resulted in the downfall of the Khanate of Khiva. To Europe, however, the action of Russia has a greater significance than the perfecting a peace and the regulating of the laws of trade with a few nomadic tribes occuppying an almost barren country. Having to all intents and purposes established her military ascendency over the independent Tartars of Turkestan, she is ominously approaching the Angle-Indian Empire. Her diplomatic intrigues in Persia and Afghanistan now look to a speedy collision between her Don Cossacks and the Sepoys upon the Hindoo Koosh mountains. The Russians have a small naval force upon the Sea of Aral, transported piecemeal by caravans across the Kirguis Steppe with great labor and expense. This is available for limited operations along the Oxus and Jaxartes rivers. And the turning back of the waters Oxus into their old channel, by which it will again become a tributary of the Caspian, affords access to the large and efficient naval establishment of Russia upon that sea to a point within two hundred and fifty miles of the Anglo-Indian frontier.

The Russian frontier will thus appear as not only advancing but belligerent. It is armed with strategic points of aggression in every direction. Her traditional ambition of territorial expansion, though bafiled and set back by such reverses as the Crimean campaign, soon recovers its elasticity and resumes its programme right at the point where it had been intercepted. She now holds over seven millions (7,000,000) of square miles, about one-seventh of the land surface of the earth. Her territory is compact and uninviting to foreign conquest, while it is admirably adapted to defence. Seven-eighths of her people are settled within her European provinces, while the scanty population of her Asiatic possessions are protected from invasion by the unwarlike character of their neighbors, and by the inaccessibility of their frontiers to the great European powers. Consequently she is enabled to use the concentrated power of her European population in disturbing the political balance of that continent. According to recent statistics Russia is the strongest military power in Europe, having 228 regiments of infantry, with 684 battalions, 228 rifle regiments, 250 reserve battalions, 72 regiments of the Guards, and 308 batteries of 8 guns each. Besides these regulars, a force of irregular cavalry is raised among the Cossacks on the Don and other tribes that have been conquered, but as yet imperfectly assimilated to the Russian system. These irregulars, amounting to over 50,000 men, are employed as a cover to the march of the regulars, and in the indirect operations of the campaign. They have played an important part in the Russian wars, especially in Asian conquests. The peculiar social constitution of her popula. tion, settled in commercial villages and exercising all the functions of local administration, is favorable to a rapid and enormous increase of the military force by drafting, while the same circumstances secure a most effective and unpaid police for the maintenance of public order. The naval force of Russia, divided into the Black Sea and Baltic fleets, embraces 290 steamers, of 3,800 horse power, bearing 2,405 guns, besides 29 sailing vessels, with 65 guns. Of these 21 are iron-clads, several of which compare with the finest vessels of their class in the British and French navies.

In the presence of these facts, the deep interest with which the action of Russia is watched by other European powers will be readily comprehended.

POLAR EXPLORATIONS .- The failure of Captain Hall's Arctic expedition, the death of that officer, and the uncertain fate of the "Polaris," are events which suggest at this time the very natural question: Of what advantage to mankind is the sacrifice of human life and the waste of treasure in polar explorations? Practically none. The discoveries made by adventurous explorers in these far northern latitudes have a scientific interest, doubtless, and many interesting questions concerning the physical geography of the Frigid Zone yet remain unanswered. The Northwest Passage, for which navigators have sought at various times during the past three centuries, could never possess any commercial importance if it were found, and it seems that abundant proof was long since furnished that no such passage exists. The eternal wastes of ice and snow produce nothing which can contribute to the well-being of the dwellers in warmer climes: there are no races of men in these extreme latitudes to civilize and christianize-nothing is there but solitude, and nothing lies beyond the ice-fields to discover which would compensate for the cost incurred or the dangers encountered. If private individuals or scientific societies wish to fit out more expeditions of exploration and discovery in the region of the North Pole, no one has any right or wish to object; but it strikes us that any more appropriations of public money to aid such enterprises are scarcely desirable. We could name many an object more deserving of public patronage.

CLAIMING DAMAGES FOR MISREPRESENTATION .-- We see it stated that an interesting suit has been brought in the Supreme Court of Massachusetts against ex Governor Smith, of Vermont, to recover damages to the amount of $14,000, alleged to have been occasioned by false and fraudulent representations contained in a report of the financial condition of the Vermont Central Railroad, of which Smith was the author. The plaintiff asserts that he was induced by this report to purchase fifty shares of preferred stock at $85 per share, and one hundred shares of common stock at $40, amounting in all $10,200. His claim for damagea is based on the assumption that the report was untrue, as the corporation was at that time in debt to the amount of millions of dollars over and above the total of the debts acknowledged in the report. The principle involved in this novel suit is one of much importance to the business community, and the decision of the court will be awaited with interest. Without expressing any opinion as to the truth of the plaintiff's allegations in this particular case we do not see why, if true, his claim for damages is not an equitable one, though legally it may not stand. Hitherto the publication of false statements regarding the financial condition of stock companies has been regarded as a customary, if not legitimate means of making a market for schemes of doubtful value, but if it is held by the courts that the authors of such pub lished statements are responsible for the losses suffered by those who may be deceived by them, we shall stand a better chance than now of learning the truth about enterprises in which the public are asked to place confidence

THE GARDNER RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE BILL.—The bill incorporating the company proposing to build a railway, with warchouse, wharf and slip systems, on what is known as the Gardner plan, has passed the Senate, and awaits the action of the Assembly. The object of the proposed regislation is the construction of a railroad to extend from the Battery to One Hundred and Sixty-first street, on the west side; thence across to the Harlem River, and down the east side to the Battery, completely encircling the city. It is to be built within 200 feet of the bulkhead line, on the west side, and within 250 feet on the east side. It may consist of one, two or three tracks, either elevated or on the ground -the intention being that they shall be elevated. One hundred and fifty feet is the extreme width of roadway allowed. The bill also provides for the construction of two piers or wharves, two docks or slips, and such warehouses as the company may need for the storage of freight. The avowed object of the road is to provide better and cheaper facilities for the handling and transportation of freights than now exist, and to all appearance it will secure the end desired. We believe this company are granted some privileges which are extraordinary and improper, and we are not, therefore, prepared to approve the scheme; but some such a railroad as that proposed is necessary, and provision for its construction should have been made long ago. As our readers will remember, we urged several years ago the importance of providing facilities for the transportation of merchandise by steam between our eastern and western water fronts, and advocated the consideration of this subject by the engineers entrusted with the duty of planning the proposed im-Why the provements in our pier and wharf systems. bill was opposed by all the New York Senators we are not informed, but should it pass the Assembly it will meet a searching analysis at the hands of the Governor, who would scarcely venture to approve a measure of this kind which had not already received the approval of the business community. The three per cent, of the amounts declared available for distribution as dividends, which the company are required to pay into the city treasury, would seem a fair equivalent for the franchises granted them, and where so large an investment of private capital is contemplated, it is only right and proper that some liberality should be observed in the granting of pewers and privileges. The capital is $16,000,000. As the incorporators propose to subscribe only $1,600,000, they must call upon capitalists and business men for the balance, and should the scheme fail to receive popular approval it must eventually fail for lack of fluancial support.

COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION OF THE UNITED STATES FOR 1872.—The Monthly Report of the Bureau of Statistics, now in press, contains the statistics of our foreign trade for December, 1872, and for the calendar year ending with that menth, compared with the corresponding periods of 1871. The Chief of the Bureau furnishes the following synopsis:

| D 1 1                              |               | Domestic exports, | roreign     |

The total value of foreign commodities remaining in warehouse December 31, 1872, was $68,109,926, against $68,963,932, December 31, 1871. From the above it will be observed that during the year ended December 31, 1872, the imports exceeded the domestic and foreign exports combined to the amount of $94,271,775, while for the corresponding period of 1871 the excess of imports over exports was $52,976,962. The portions of our foreign trade consisting of merchandise and of specie and bullion, respectively, during the calendar years 1872 and 1871, were as follows:

|                          |               | Domestic exports. | Foreign      |
|--------------------------|---------------|-------------------|--------------|

| Specie and bullion, 1872 | 21,182,004    | 92,295,236        | 8,391,688    |
| Merchandise, 1871        | 573,111,099   | 445,563,259       | 14,788,829   |
| Specie and bullion, 1871 | 16,804,415    | 65,431,312        | 12,009,128   |
|                          |               |                   | ,,           |

The amounts of the foregoing carried in cars and other land vehicles, and in American and foreign vessels, respectively, during the calendar years 1872 and 1871, were as follows:

|                        | _           | Domestic exports, | Foreign     |
|------------------------|-------------|-------------------|-------------|
|                        | Imports.    | (mixed values.)   | exports.    |
| Land vehicles, 1872    |             | $6,420,962       | $3,652,480 |
| American vessels, 1872 |             |                   | 7.027.513   |
| Foreign vessels, 1872  |             | 422,093,783       | 14,406,000  |
| Land vehicles, 1871    |             |                   | 2,439,623   |
| American vessels, 1871 |             |                   | 8,509,033   |
| Foreign vessets, 1871  | 401,847,870 | 383,040,525       | 15,849,296  |

During the year 1872 nearly 72 per cent of the total foreign trade carried in vessels was in foreign vessels, and over 68 per cent in 1871.

[From our own correspondent.]

LONDON, Saturday, May 3, 1873.

After the severe weather of last week the temperature has been milder, and May has commenced with favorable prospects. The weather is bright, but not forcing, and vegetation is making healthy progress. The somewhat severe frests of last week have injured the fruit erop in some localities, but there is still the promise of a good yield of all the more useful descriptions of produce. The frests have also extended to France and Italy, and it is stated that the vines have been severely injured. The price of wines and brandies has in consequence advanced considerably in the London market. As regards wheat, there has been an increase of firmness, and the better qualities of produce have realized higher quotations-an advance, in fact, of about 1s. per quarter. Red foreign wheats, however, are chiefly in demandthe buyers of white being somewhat cautious in their operations. owing to the extensive supply of Californian produce now on the market. From all parts of the Continent of Europe the reports received point to considerable firmness in the trade. The supplies offering are very moderate, and good and fine descriptions are scarce. It is safe to say that there will be no material increase in the supply until the next crop is marketable, and the inference is, therefore, that present prices will be maintained. So far as Great Britain is concerned, it is clear that we shall require a large supply. The quantity on passage is large, but as it is by no means in excess of our requirements, it has no depressing effect upon our trade. Our importations, large as they have been since last harvest, have only been about equal to our wants, as the last returns of stocks at the outports show that there has been a diminution rather than an accumulation of grain there. In fact, the foreign supplies as they arrive pass immediately into consumption, and so long as that is the case it cannot be expected. that the price of wheat will decline. The probability is that we shall not vary to any important extent so long as the weather remains fine.

The following statement shows the imports and exports of cereal produce into and from the United Kingdom since harvest, viz., from September 1 to the close of last week, compared with the corresponding periods in the three previous years:

The position of the Bank of England has not materially changed during the week. The proportion of reserve to liabilities is rather more than 33½ per cent; but the weekly return shows that there has been less demand for money, the "other securities" having been diminished by nearly £1,000,000. During the last two or three days the demand for money has somewhat improved, owing to the preparations which have been in progress for meeting the bills due to-day, which is practically and legally the "fourth" of the month. The supply of money seeking employment has somewhat increased, and no immediate change in the rates is now expected to take place. The quotations are as follows:

Gold continues In demand for export to various quarters, and not only have all our importatious been absorbed, but exporters have resorted to the Bank for small amounts. The wants of Germany appear, however, to have been temporarily satisfied. Silver Is In fair demand for export, but as it is stated that the prohibition to export it from Peru has been removed, larger importations are anticipated at an early date. The fellowing prices of bullion are from the circular of Messrs. Pixley, Abell, Langley & Blake:

Bills on Italy have been difficult to sell, but those on France and Germany have been in request, and the rates are somewhat lower.

The flatness of the silk trade during the last few months has produced another failure, that, viz., of Messrs. Textor & Co. The liabilities are estimated at £400,000, a large proportion of which, however, is secured. Messrs. Neumann, Gingold & Co., trading chiefly in tobacco with Germany, have also suspended payment, the liabilities being estimated at £300,000. It is expected, however, that only about £50,000 will rank against the estate, while the assets are estimated at £15,000. This failure is said to have been caused by speculation in the Stock Exchange.

Messrs. Baring Brothers & Co. have announced a new loan of £1,000,000 for the City of Boston, U. S. It will be issued in sterling bonds at the price of 91½ per £100 bond, and interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum will date from the 1st of April last. The prospectus calls attention to the fact that the net debt of the City of Boston, including the present issue, will be equal to about £4,000,000, and that the real estate of the city, which is all liable for the payment of the debt, is worth about £80,000,000.

In the Stock Exchange the more prominent feature has been an increase of excitement in the market for Atlantic Telegraphs.

The terms of amalgamation have at length been agreed upon, and Anglo-American stock has declined considerably in price. The stock of that undertaking has been as high as 177 this year, but is quoted to-day at 141½ to 142½. French Cable shares, which will a to 33½. The following circular has been as high as 177 this of at the public sales. The following circular has been as high as 177 are now 33½ to 33½. The following circular has been as high as 177 this of at the public sales.

issued by the French Cable Company in reference to the amalgamation of the companies:

mation of the companies:

The Anglo-American Company will increase its capital to 7,000,000., and purchase the French and Newfoundiand Companies; in this total capital 3,451,550. will represent the capital of the French Company (now 1,650,000.); 2,548,450.0 will represent the capital of the Anglo-American Company (now 1,677,000.); 1,000,000. will represent the capital of the Newfoundiand Company (now 864,520.); total, 7,000,000. This company's new cable will now be laid from Vsleutia to Heart's Content, Newfoundland, and from Placentia 6 Sydney (Cape Breton), in place of from Land's End to Halifax and New York. The shareholders in this company will receive for each present share of 20.2 about 41.2. Iss. in the shares of the analgamated company, subject to the payment by this company of its existing debenture debt and the expenses of the liquidation, which may be estimated in round figures at 51. per share As, however, the saving in cable. &c., made by the change of route will be considerable, two-thirds of which saving will accrue to the amalgamated company and one third to this company, it is expected a portion of this 51. will be provided for. The Newfoundland Company reserves its own land rights, and of the 1,000,000. accruing to it in the amalgamated company, 135,480. will be placed in trost, to be banded over to the Newfoundland Company at the expiration of two years, should none of its present exclusive rights and privileges be withdrawn; otherwise, said 135,480. will revert to the amalgamated company. The shareholders will be summoned together with the least possible delay.

The Stock markets have been wanting in animation. French scrip has been as low as 4½ premium, owing to the election of a Republican candidate for Paris, which has been the cause of considerable excitement. An improvement to 5 per cent premium, however, has since taken place. Italian stock is lower, owing to the ministerial crisis at Rome, but United States Government securities have been firm. Erie shares have not varied in price to any important extent, but Atlantic & Great Western Railway securities have been in demand, and are firmer in price. Illinois Central shares are rather dull. The following were the closing prices of censols and the principal American securities this after] noon:
